Prof. Jürgen Zentek, Dr. Menno Thomas and Dr. Hans Stein to speak at 1st International Feed Technology Congress (IFTC 2019)

Wageningen University and the Victam Foundation will host the first International Feed Technology Congress (IFTC 2019) directed towards the evolvments in animal feed processing. This conference will take place during the VICTAM International 2019 event in Cologne, Germany, 12th and 13th June 2019.

The congress will bring together people from the universities and from the animal feed industry as well as international researchers so as to exchange their knowledge and expertise, to share technical and scientific developments in the fields of animal feed technology and to discuss research results. The goal of the 1st Feed Technology Congress is that it will serve as a medium to enhance the cooperation between industry and universities to create innovative projects and collaborations.

On behalf of the scientific and organization committee of the congress, we would like to invite students, professors, researchers, and professionals to participate in the IFTC. This event will include the thematic conferences with keynote speakers as well as oral and poster presentations. The presentations of the IFTC 2019 Congress will be published as a special issue of the Journal 'Animal Feed Science & Technology' at a later date.

The themes of the Congress firstly comprise research into the valorization of diet ingredients by different or multiple processing methods. Secondly, the refinement of processes as well as the introduction of new, innovative processes are subject of the conference, including for example processes more specifically related to diet ingredients. Thirdly, the optimization of the feed nutritional value as related to processing is an important, actual and emerging subject: how do we want to include the effects of feed technology into diet formulation?
